scent, but stuck their heads into the air and howled dismally. This at first led to the belief that the animal had probably leaped on top of the sheds adjoining the rear of the building and gained the top of the opera house block or the Commercial club building. But a search of the tops of these buildings failed to locate the lion.

Yesterday afternoon, after having been out all day, Col. Jones returned to the city and gave up the search. He told an Optic representative that he had no hope of ever recapturing the lion, which has probably made good its escape by going far up into the mountains. Col. Jones felt the loss keenly, as he had only recently captured the lion alive, while visiting his ranch near the Grand Canyon, in Arizona, and was going to take it to New York to be used as a drawing card in front of a theater there, where he has a contract to show his motion pictures. He valued the animal at $1,000. Col. Jones left today for the east without his lion and will stop en route and visit a day at his buffalo ranch at Garden City, Kan.

The heavy rain of yesterday afternoon dispersed in short order the large crowd of people that had assembled to witness the ball game between the Las Vegas Browns and the Swastikas. The game will be played next Sunday on the hill west of the court house.

CAPITALISTS MAY TAKE OVER MONTEZUMA HOTEL

James Abbott, who has been in the city the past week, ostensibly looking for a site for a health resort and tourist hotel, is said to be considering a proposition to re-open the magnificent Montezuma hotel at Hot Springs. Mr. Abbott, who is representing Denver and New York capitalists, is a practical hotel man of many years' experience, and is said to be very favorably impressed with the Montezuma property, now owned by the Santa Fe Railway company. In the event he closes a deal for the property, it is said he will depend largely upon local patronage. However, he would also cater to tourist travel.

The remains of Frank E. Reubart, who died in this city Saturday afternoon were shipped yesterday afternoon to Joplin, Mo., from the undertaking parlors of J. C. Johnson & Son, on train No. 2. Mrs. Eva Lamb, a sister of the deceased, accompanied the body.

Klein Bros, of Fort Collins, Colo., are figuring on purchasing land in proximity to this city and locating here permanently. They have perhaps been informed of the reservoir project that means so much for this immediate vicinity.
